Jim McCormack, started Papa's in 1976 with a dream of creating a place where families could gather, customers were friends, and generations would always remember their great times at a Culver institution. His wife, Marion, and the McCormack kids, thought he was nuts. Jim was a graphic designer and was actually credited with designing the first Beatles album when Vee Jay Records from Chicago owned them for a year. The Beatles' rights were then sold to Capitol Records for $350. Jim's love for music has been passed down through the generations and is represented in the ambiance of our restaurant.

Today, our family carries on Jim's legacy and works hard to make Papa's Culver's oldest and most trusted eatery. We do this by using the best ingredients, picking the best people, and living this dream with a passion. We're not a chain restaurant, we're better. We're a family restaurant. Come enjoy Papa's like thousands do every week. You're one of the family.
